// Logistics cluster rebrands

The logistics cluster unveiled December 2nd a new logo and website to promote its operations and facilitate communications between members and clients. The new Cluster for Logistics Luxembourg asbl logo, with the slogan "Adding value is the key" contains graphic elements representing the many public and private members of the cluster. The English language website www.clusterforlogistics.lu has a public area providing information about the cluster and its member companies and organisations as well as its events. A member-only area allows document sharing, article research and industry training events.
