

Showcasing our best in China

Gëlle Fra: at the Luxembourg pavillion

Expo as Luxembourg Day. The event will showcase Luxembourg products and services in a wide range of sectors targeted for their potential for business development. During the commercial week, a succession of sector specific seminars will be following up with specific business matchmaking.

Details at: www.luxembourgforbusiness.lu/world-expo-shanghai

With the 1st May opening of the Luxembourg pavilion at the 2010 Shanghai Expo, all eyes are on business opportunities in the rapidly growing economic giant of China. The scale of commercial transactions between Luxembourg and Asia has overshadowed visible trade with North America, with Luxembourg exports to China more than quintupling and imports increasing tenfold between the mid 90s and the mid-2000s. A wide range of business opportunities beckon in a range of sectors.

To encourage Luxembourg's access to the Chinese market, the Luxembourg Chamber of Commerce, a founder of the economic interest group "G.I.E. Luxembourg @ Expo Shanghai 2010" is organising a commercial week in and around the Luxembourg Pavilion from 7th to 15th October. 10th October has been selected by the organisers of the